The show phase

Here the score for each clown will be set. The Clown will perform if he reaches the town and has all the material needed for the joke. Each clown forms a joke differently, so they must have the material in the correct order to perform in the show. The numbers on the punchline cards and the dice, as well as the number of number of delivery tokens stored can indicate the amount of points a player will receive from the grid above. If your combination isn't shown on the grid, then you have failed (bombed) the show.

PUNCHLINE CARDS

RULES

AIM: Collect the most laughter points  to win.

YOU WILL NEED:

SETUP: Cut out all the paper parts  (Stick each clown face with its back. Stick the container envelop together at the indicated parts ). Pick a Clown. Determine the turn order by drawing punchline cards . The lowest number starts first, followed by the 2nd lowest and so on. Give each player their player identity tokens, 1 road map and 6 step and delivery/laughter tokens .

GAMEPLAY: There are 3 phases in the game: the Journey phase, the Show phase, and the refresh phase.

The Journey phase: the player has 2 actions in that phase: spend step tokens to reach the town (1 step token = 2 steps)  / Get a setup effect (spin and throw your identify token on the stash tile, your player arrow points at the effect gained, place that effect on your road map)  / collect punchline card (draw a card, apply the effect)  / convert unused step tokens into delivery tokens . Once a player reaches a town, their show phase will immediately begin.

The show phase: Once the clown reaches the town, they will give a performance to try and make the people of the town laugh. The player will only give a show if they have accumulated the necessary joke material in the correct order for that clown (look at the back side of your clown avatar). If they did not, then they will immediately start the refresh phase before starting the journey phase on their next turn. If the player fulfills the clown's conditions to give a joke, and the collected material is found on the show grid, convert delivery points into laughter points as indicated on the show grid; A player will keep the laughter points in the laughter token stash , but will discard the rest in the refresh phase.

The Refresh phase: Return the step and delivery tokens, the punchline card, and the setup dice to the stockpile. Draw 6 step and delivery tokens (or take only what is available). Next, the player will start the journey phase again on their next turn.

SETUP DICE EFFECTS

BEAUTIFUL NATURE

you followed a butterfly and thought of a great joke. Advance 1 step

WHAT'S THIS?

You found the legendary funny bone. now you'll be the funniest! Take 1 laughter point from another player, if they have one.

NEW COSTUME

You found a new clown costume set... hey, there is a joke here... but what is it? Choose an ability of a different playing clown character to use this turn.

MIDLIFE CRISES

You suddenly thought about your life, your choices, and how you got here... You wondered if you have maybe made a wrong turn somewhere. Lose 2 laughter points now, but store 3 laughter points after you perform in your stash

FUNNY JOKE... RIGHT?

You smiled and remembered a joke about a cat and a mouse. You smile and creep everyone you see. If you perform but do not score in the show phase, get 1 laughter point

NOT FUNNY?

The show did not go well, everyone is booing, so you grab a canister of laughter gas and spray! If you bombed 2 shows in a row, and you have rolled this effect on the 2nd show, you get laughter points equal to the highest player that performed before this round.

GAME END: The game ends when each player does at least 2 shows, or when there aren't enough step tokens to cross and complete a journey phase.

NOTE: Players can start Journeys on other players' road maps after finishing their own; they can even place material in any order before the other player. And that can prevent some clowns from participating in shows.
